

THE WORLD OF AMERICAN AND CANADIAN CITIZENS BORN OF ITALIAN PROGENITORS

Recent Population Censuses in both countries provides the astonishing information that approximately 15 million American citizens and 1.3 million Canadian citizens mark their Heritage as Italian. Most take great pride and personal pleasure of having an Italian family name, attending Italian banquets, and the present popularity of Italian culture. They live in a country both rich and abundant in goods and services in what is generally referred to as "The Good Life." As a result the former wartime period of Italian political, social, and economic history has had little affect, in any meaningful way, on their personal life here in North America.

Now that they have seen and learned how quickly and easily wars are made by their own governments, they may be better prepared to understand how their parent's former country became involved in the military conflict of World War II, which claimed over sixty million innocent lives from 1939 to 1945.

The history of the horrendous period of Italy's war years and immediate post-war years plays no part in their popular knowledge of Italian historical information. They, along with most Americans and Canadians only know and accept the war-time history that they has been told by their governments via a vast network of media outlets over the past sixty years.

THE BIG LIE

We have been told ever since 1945, by every media means known and available to the authors of a multitude of malicious lies, that Italy and its people were forced to live their lives for twenty-one years under a political regime of a very evil, corrupt and cruel dictatorship, and that finally in 1943 Italy was invaded by the Allied Armies of America, Canada, Britain, Australia, and freed and liberated from this period of political terror and crime, and that the Italian Prime Minister of Italy, from 1922 to 1943, was assassinated by "partisans" and his body and others were hung and desecrated in a public square in Milan -- A ruthless and shameful display of civic brutality now seen and known to the entire world, by sixty years of publication in films and photos.

The Allied military presence in Italy began with the invasion of Sicily on July 10, 1943. Fifteen days later Benito Mussolini was no longer the Prime Minister of Italy. His traitorous successors, as arranged by agreement with the Allied Forces, all left Italy for other lands and left the nation and its people to live a life of absolute social, political, economic and military confusion and suffering. The Allied Forces marched and bombed their way northward through the entire peninsula and then eventually took over the government and control of the nation in Rome on June 4, 1944. They bombed most of the major cities and industrial sites from Naples to Milan as they wished, destroying much of Italy's historically important sites and regions including parts of Rome. Their excessive and now seen as unnecessary bombing raids was a military/political program of callous revenge, terrorist bombings on a country and a people who had no army, no government and no will to continue the war. The criminality of the total destruction bombing of the Benedictine Monte Casino Monastery stands out as a classic example of the gratuitous Allied bombing strategy.

LEARNING THE TRUTH ABOUT ITALY'S IMPORTANT ROLE IN THE WORLD FROM

JULY 29,1883 TO APRIL 28,1945

First one must earnestly hunger for the truth which can become a long and challenging journey. Then one must become a reader of important history books, articles, and documents. A reliance on media outlets for a personal evaluation of what really happened during these years is very dangerous and very often misleading! In Italy today the victorious Allied Governments retain their hegemonic presence with military bases and more importantly in vital National Articles in the Italian Constitution which were drafted in essence by legal and military agents of the victorious Allied Nations.

IF THESE CHAOTIC DAYS OF CIVIL STRIFE AND CONFUSION ALONG WITH THE COMPLETE COLLAPSE OF ALL GOVERNMENTAL ORDER AND ASSISTANCE ALONG WITH A LEGACY OF FOOD SHORTAGES AND STARVATION ARE THE DAYS THAT YOUR GRANDPARENTS, OR YOUR FATHER OR MOTHER, OR GREAT UNCLE OR AUNT RECALL AND PLACE ALL THE BLAME ON THE SHOULDERS OF BENITO MUSSOLINI, THEY ARE MAKING A MISTAKE. ALTHOUGH HE PAID THE ULTIMATE PRICE OF A PATRIOTIC MARTYRDOM, HE WAS INNOCENT OF THESE LAST DAYS OF NATIONAL SOCIAL, ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL CHAOS, DOUBLE DEALINGS, TREACHERY, VINDICTIVENESS AND DIVERSE POLITICAL AND MILITARY COMMANDS WHICH WERE THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

This Allied landing in Italy was not a day of liberation, as is celebrated in Italy each year, but rather an Invasion of Occupation. They, the Americans are still there; in the Italian Constitution, in 100 military bases and especially in NATO of which Italy is a member. It is unknown if this was a political choice or an obligation of all post war governments of Italy.

LEARNING THE TRUTH ABOUT THE LIFE AND HISTORY OF MUSSOLINI

Investigating newly published literature regarding the fascinating and altruistic history of the life and times of Benito Mussolini, the most disparaged political genius of twentieth century European history, will become a very rewarding enterprise for anyone of Italian heritage. One day the mysterious disappearance of the contents of the of the satchel of top secret personal documents he carried with him during those fateful last days in Lake Como in 1945 will eventually be revealed for the entire world to read. Then the truth of the vast devastating wartime period of Italian history and the nations and men responsible for this worldwide war will be finally brought to light.

Pius XII speaks about Benito Mussolini:

Come ha affermato il Papa Pio XII, <il più grande uomo da me conosciuto e senz'altro fra i più profondamente buoni: al riguardo ho troppe prove per dimostrarlo>. 1952

As affirmed by Pope Pius XII, <the greatest man I have ever met and without doubt among the most kindhearted: for this matter I have a lot of evidence to prove it>. 1952
