BACK IN THE HANDS OF INTERNATIONAL MASONRY

ITALY HAS BEEN REPEATILY RAPED AND OFFENDED AND THE OFFSPRINGS ARE UNHOLY, DANGEROUS, AND MENACING

1945 – 2012
MUSSOLINI AND HIS MASONIC CAMP OF ENEMIES

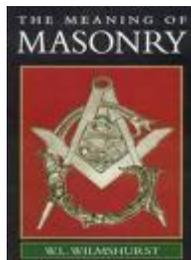

ON NOVEMBER 26, 1926 HIS GOVERNMENT ENACTED A BILL WHICH WOULD PROHIBIT SECRET SOCIETIES IN ITALY AND THE POLICE WERE LATER ORDERED TO OCCUPY ALL MASONIC LODGES IN ITALY AND THE COLONIES.

“My labor had not been easy nor light; our Masonry had spun a most intricate net of anti-religious activity; it dominated the currents of thought; it exercised its influence over publishing houses, over teaching, over the administration of justice and even over certain dominant sections of the armed forces. To give an idea of how far things had gone, this significant example is sufficient. When, in parliament, I delivered my first speech of November 16, 1922, after the Fascist revolution, I concluded by invoking the assistance of God in my difficult task. Well, this sentence of mine seemed to be out of place! In the Italian parliament, a field of action for Italian Masonry, the name of God had been banned for a long time. Not even the Popular party the so-called Catholic party had ever thought of speaking of God. In Italy, a political man did not even turn his thoughts to the Divinity. And, even if he had ever thought of doing so, political opportunism and cowardice would have deterred him, particularly in a legislative assembly. It remained for me to make this bold innovation! And in an intense period of revolution! What is the truth! It is that a faith openly professed is a sign of strength. I have seen the religious spirit bloom again; churches once more are crowded, the ministers of God are themselves invested with new respect. Fascism has done and is doing its duty.”

Mussolini Autobiography 1928

Accepting the King's invitation to form a new Italian Government and to assume the Office of Prime Minister in 1922, Benito Mussolini was quick to demand and later to command that every Italian citizen must profess and honor an allegiance and loyalty to the Italian state and to the Kingdom of Italy personified in the personage of King Victor Emmanuel III of the Royal House of Savoy and to forgo and resign from other loyalties and allegiances which infringe upon and run counter to this commitment to Italy and its Institutions.

Many Enemies, Much Honor.

Known Fascist Freemasons were asked for their resignation from their Masonic Lodges. Mussolini told the nation that was impossible to be loyal to Italy and also be a loyal and active Free Mason. He was well informed on the history and rituals of this worldwide organization and simply stated those facts to the Fascist Party and the Nation.

This new message to the Italian People fell hard on the ears of the Internationalists, Free Masons, Bolsheviks, Trotskyites, Socialists, Marxists, Communists, Mafiosi, Zionists, and over zealous priests and a host of others not officially published and ultra-secret organizations around the world. Of these, Freemasonry was seen as being the number one enemy of Fascism since the earliest days in Milan when he formed a small group of World War I veterans into a quasi-political combative group of patriots immediately upon their return home from the carnage of trench warfare. This group of men included several Freemasons. As soon as Mussolini began to structure a national program of social and economic goals for the nation he ran into opposition from these very Masons at every turn. On November 26, 1926 his government enacted a bill which would prohibit Secret Societies in Italy and the police were later ordered to occupy all Masonic Lodges in Italy and the Colonies. Known Fascist Freemasons were asked for their resignation from their Masonic Lodges. Mussolini told the nation that was impossible to be loyal to Italy and also be a loyal and active Free Mason. He was well informed on the history and rituals of this worldwide organization and simply stated those facts to the Fascist Party and the Nation.

Many in the country and especially around the world cried “foul” and immediately began a propaganda campaign to amplify these complaints to the nation and the world that Italy’s new Fascist government was a totalitarian, brutal and repressive regime which suppressed individual and institutional freedoms and human rights. Of course Mussolini’s prime object was to save the nation and its citizens from the international maneuverings and unpublished programs of these secret societies and from all foreign born atheistic philosophies and political ideologies.

As Prime Minister he had the duty, obligation and the responsibility to guard and protect the Nation from all possible sovereignty, social, spiritual and economic harm. Also by these laws and prohibitions he placed these international organizations and their leaders on notice that their attempts to plant their political programs in the Italian Culture would not be tolerated and that their anti-governmental propaganda and social actions would be met with stiff resistance and actions.

Freemasons were the most powerful organization in Europe, America, and England at the time and were known to be consistently covert in their political and social ambitions whereas the Communist Camp, who had a series of street brawls with Mussolini and his early Fascists in the cities and town of Italy were visible and prominent in daily Italian life. They were then at their zenith of their European power and influence since they came to power with the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 in Russia. These same political arguments are being fought today in the universities, the piazzas, and the coffee shops of Italy.

Overzealous Fascist Deputies in the regions were also responsible for some charges of repression and violence. These were men chosen mainly for their known loyalty and valor as soldiers more so than for their discretion and charm. Some caused real problems for the Fascist Party and especially for Mussolini’s government which was being carefully watch daily from every Capital city of the world.

Mussolini gave his best to his country and demanded the best from his fellow citizens in their struggle to prevent Italy from becoming another Communist State which at the time was a very real and urgent threat and possibility.

Without Mussolini’s rise to power in 1922 it is quite likely that both Italy and Spain would have become socialist states of The Soviet Union of Socialist Republics then under the leadership of Joseph Stalin in Moscow, a man whom Mussolini saw as an archenemy but also as a very capable and determined man in world affairs, far superior to the governmental leaders of the Western Democracies.

This roster of secret societies and political organizations was not new to the world when Mussolini came to power in Italy. They existed and prospered under the former Liberal Governments whose political and economic failures led to the King's decision to allow an unproven and relatively unknown person to become the country's prime minister. The difference is that the former governments did little if anything to combat their actions and influence whereas Mussolini fought them in the streets, in parliament and in the press. The King recognized this uncompromising program offered by the Fascist and invited them to form the government.

Giuseppe Garibaldi, for all his fame as a soldier and a heroic Italian figure, was also a Grand Mason who had been schooled in South America and New York in these matters and whose prime political goal was the elimination of the secular power and influence of the Roman Catholic church wherever he found it. Communism and Free Masonry both remain today as major nongovernmental influences in Italian national life, as evidenced by the Masonic based Red Lodge P-2 exposé of recent years and the political assassinations of the Red Brigade.

The cries of "Repression" were heard all over the world. Some dissidents went into exile, some were jailed and some with their organizations were censored. Without these measures the Mussolini government would have survived their first term in office but with greater difficulty. It has been reported that he enjoyed the favor and support of over ninety percent of the Italian population while in power until the nation found itself at war. Even then the people in the streets backed him and his governments with far greater majorities than modern day democratically elected governments. He was cheered and applauded whenever and wherever he was seen in the streets and towns of Italy. In the South they still revere his memory as they knew who he was then and what they are told by their elders today.

THEY HAVE US ALL FOOLED

"I fear going to extremes, the policy of madness, at the bottom of which may lie the destruction of our fragile mechanical civilization, robbed of its moral basis, and the coming of a terrible race of dominators who would reintroduce discipline into the world and reestablish the necessary hierarchies with the cracking of whips and machine guns."

Benito Mussolini, 1919 Milan

Who are this terrible race of dominators envisioned by Benito Mussolini early in his public career? Are they the new international order of political hierarchies that have taken captive the executive command structures of our democratically selected political world? Are they those that say one thing in public while planning to reintroduce another completely different set of political, religious, and social disciplines in private, while fallaciously advocating superlative promises of democracy, freedom, liberty and justice to the nations and peoples of the world?

If so, they may be a morphogenetic breed of men and ideas from those that we have previously described as secret societies. Only they know who they are and what their plans are for the nations and the peoples of the world; but by necessity they must manifest themselves and their political agendas by their covert use of illegal programs of military, social and political operations around the world.

They have gained total and complete political power by infiltrating and corrupting the noble ideals of the early Greek philosophical concept of Democracy. Their cracking whips and machine guns have become nuclear weapons of mass destruction. They control the entire world's nuclear military power in our skies, in our oceans, and soon in outer space. They do all this with the consent and the approval of ordinary citizens by way of public democratic elections. People have been programmed into believing that they and they alone have the power to select and elect their governments, when in reality their voting is but a prelude to a mandate of full and complete dictatorship by the executive branch of modern democratic nations. Democracy often ends as soon as the last ballots are counted.

Benito Mussolini is the one honest, brilliant, political mind they fear more than any other man in recent political history. His altruistic legacy of original ground-breaking governmental laws, concepts, and programs cause them many sleepless nights and vast amounts of energy and money to combat the Persistence Appeal of Fascism to the intellectual mind and to the toiling masses of the world.

Surely we are old enough and wise enough to know those persons and organizations that have the levers of political, economic and media power in today's world. They are the same as when he was alive. To resurrect judicious and knowledgeable words from the past (Pius XII) would be an opening for these scoundrels to work their vicious venom into another deadly network of Media lies, hate, and deception. These people are killers: They killed John Kennedy and got away with it! They killed Robert Kennedy and got away with it! They killed Martin L. King and got away with it! They killed Dr. Gerald Bull and others and got away with it!

Massacre at Giulini Di Mezzgra

THE RATIONAL OF AN ASSASSINATION

Every age of man has suffered its own brutal assassinations and has its own sorrowful martyr logy, some reaching into the thousands of recorded names that can be read in the various histories of man. Men and women have suffered this unwilled death sentence at the hands of others due mainly to their closely held beliefs, convictions and ideology. To this list of historical names, tens of thousands of unnamed and unknown martyrs can be added, most mainly due to those who have suffered and died because of someone else's ideas and concepts manifest in an ongoing series of wars – known and celebrated or unknown and unre-membered both are martyrs.

To the list of assassination history the name of Benito Mussolini may now be added. He was assassinated in cold blood by a series of bullet wounds on April 28, 1945 at 4:10 p.m. at the Lake Como village of Giulino di Mezzegra, Italy. He was assassinated because of the ideals he held dear and absolute and by the order of the international secret International Organizations that represented other minds and men that held diametrically opposing values to those practiced by his twenty-three year Italian Fascist Regime. Mussolini's applied religious, economic and social governmental programs were not to their liking and most certainly not to their economic or political benefit.

In company with Socrates of Athens, and Sts. Peter and Paul of Rome, and Sts. Thomas More and Becket of London and the four Religious women raped and murdered in 1980 in Guatemala, Mussolini accepted his death as his life's final fulfillment of a lifetime of service and dedication to his flock the Italian People, whom he loved with unending admiration, respect and gratitude. Caught in an irretraceable web of international intrigues, political duplicity, and secret society treachery and treason, he like so many other heroic men and women in history, faced death that afternoon standing against the stone wall at the gate of the Villa Belmonte. One tragedy in the scandalous historical affairs we now speak of as the Second World War which created martyrs of sixty million unnamed men, women, children, and soldiers.

Immediately after the heinous assassinations of Benito Mussolini and Claretta Petacci at the Villa Belmonte, they quickly arranged to have the entire group of prisoners, then being held in prison lined up against a lakeside wall and executed, one by one, by a hastily arranged firing squad. Seventeen Mussolini loyalists met their death there April 28th, 1945.

PIUS XII SPEAKS ABOUT BENITO MUSSOLINI

Come ha affermato il Papa Pio XII, <il più grande uomo da me conosciuto e senz'altro fra più profondamente buoni: al riguardo ho troppe prove per dimostrarlo>. 1952

As affirmed by Pope Pius XII, <the greatest man I have ever met and without doubt among the most kindhearted: for this matter I have a lot of evidence to prove it>. 1952

We who see Mussolini as a Political Genius can be his only judge and jury, and hope that by writing about the knowledge of this amazing person that somehow, somewhere in the world a son may be born of humble stock to bring Benito Mussolini's Italian governmental concepts to their full economic and social fruition!

OTHER VOICES SPEAK FROM HISTORY

Marshall McLuhan

In a letter dated Toronto, Ontario, February 28, 1953, Marshall McLuhan, Canadian Communications Theorist wrote to American Poet Ezra Pound :

Dear Pound

Last year has been spent in going through rituals of secret societies with fine comb.

As I said before I'm in a bloody rage at the discovery that the arts and sciences are in the pocket of these societies.

Now that I know the nature of the sectarian strife among the societies I have no intention of participating in it any further, until I know a great deal more. To hell with the East and the West." 1

In another letter, dated May 14, 1969, to Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, Marshall McLuhan writes: "The great advantage in participating in Bilderberg is that it gives one a means of estimating the level to which the incompetence of the participants has enabled them to attain.

When I explain that in terms of services available to the ordinary man in 1830, England at least had achieved Communism, they were unable to demur. That observation concerned the old-fashioned industrial hardware only. When travel and information and educational services are available to the ordinary person, the services that the greatest private wealth could not possibly provide for itself, that is Communism. It happened long before Karl Marx."2

"We see how Greece, which is Orthodox, and because it is dominated by Freemasonry, is hostile to anything which might draw it nearer to Italy (not because of national interests) but because it holds the centre of Catholicism -- Greece, I repeat had suffered more and still suffers more than any other land from the consequences of the policy of its leaders."3

NEW ORDER OF MASONRY RETURNS TO ITALY

Letter of Congratulations to the Masonic Brothers

Romano Prodi

Mario Monti

Appropriate as a race of burps in church, Italy Politics gets the endorsement of Freemasonry

It comes through the open letter signed by the Worshipful Master Joel Magaldi, Democratic leaders of the Great Eastern - the current heterodox of the Great East of Italy - and a man already known to the news for similar operations (the famous letter last year to "brother Silvio") .

In the letter, the word "brother" occurs seventeen times: eleven referring to mountains that separates Obama with three and two dragons (Berlusconi remains stuck at one pole with "brother"). The sense of the appeal Magaldi is as follows: Brother Mountains, out of the crisis and the penalty fees are not enough, we want reform of Eurobonds and sovereign debt. Otherwise the whole of Europe will be "attacked by speculation that it intends to take advantage (with huge profits daily flow) of the current (and planned, you know it well that such groups and oligarchies) and structural weakness in the euro zone."

What is positive is that you can count "on the robust and official viaticum of another illustrious Brother Mason as President Obama" and that "even the Brother Mario Draghi is now willing to embrace new strategies." In conclusion, "Dear Brother Mountains, during the European tour enforced and regenerates the potential prestige of Italy." Signed (no earlier than the "usual Triple Fraternal Embrace"), "the brothers of the Great East democracy."

He alluded to the lack of opportunities at all, and the reason is obvious. Around Mountains, boats and slander based team & compass flourish like mushrooms in autumn. Oh, not that much to make the curriculum fugarli man. Trilateral, Bilderberg club (ie the directory of small planetary Scrooge: For conspiracy theorists, the cradle of the New World Order), Bruegel, Goldman Sachs, there is something to satiate an army of conspiracy theorists.

In the letter, the word ' brother ' marks seventeen times: eleven refer to mountains, which peels off Obama with three and two Dragons (Berlusconi remains stationary at stake with a single ' brother '). The sense of Magaldi's appeal is the following: brother, out of the crisis the rigour and taxes are not enough, we want Eurobond and reform of sovereign debt. Otherwise the whole of Europe will be "attacked by speculation that it intends to take advantage (with daily reach colossal profits) of the current (and planned, you know too well by which groups and oligarchies) and structural weakness of the euro zone.

Positive is that you can count on "strong and official viaticum of another illustrious Brother Mason as President Obama» and that «even his brother Mario Draghi is now willing to embrace new strategies". In conclusion, ' dear brother Monti, during the European tour relied and regenerates the potential of Italy» prestige. Signed (no earlier than usual Fraternal Hug ' Triple '), ' Big Brothers ' democratic East.

You mentioned the lack of opportunity at all, and why is soon said. Around the mountains, and slanders boats based team & compasses bloom like mushrooms in autumn. Oh, not that the curriculum of man face much for fugarli. Trilateral, Bilderberg club (i.e. the directory of major planetariums: shortlist for conspiracy, the cradle of the new world order), Bruegel, Goldman Sachs: there is to satiate an army of suicidal. the point that even the staid and progressive French daily Le Monde, not exactly a tabloid sheet, a few days ago he posted a irrituale hardness about the role of Goldman Sachs in recent developments of European policy. We have the argument has also been the subject of television talk show. To understand how much spread enjoy suggestion, just say that networking is fortissimo video with faux Voyager service that reveals the altars of Monti: «is a case that the spread of the btp Italians against bunds recalls Wandse mountains, which in this image taken in ' 72 provide shelter to hotel Bilderberg? 'This picture, you can guess that the last thing it needs is of Mountains be further associated with the Loggie, strong powers and hooding. And there is a bet that the sortie of Magaldi will get the opposite effect. And, at a time when the State of health of representative democracy is what it is, it runs the risk of giving arguments to bread and campa not conspiracies. But why Freemasonry would interest inguaiare a confrere? The matter did not come

He was the first man to see the dangerous social and economic goals and ambitions of modern day International Zionism an International Communism. Both of these ideologies were seen by Benito Mussolini to be in direct opposition to his innate concepts of those values and concept which produced social unity, order and good government.

As a result, early in life, after a military experience as a trench soldier in the first World War, he set in motion a new and unprecedented form of government which had at its heart the supreme benefit of the citizens and the nation of Italy. This governmental notion soon became a new standard for other nations of the world, and was later adopted by several countries outside of Italy. The world soon beat a path to his government offices at the Palazzo Venezia in Rome in order to learn from him the ideas behind his new and exciting Fascist way of governing a nation, a nation that he had inherited in 1922 that was bankrupt in every human expression of a normal and secure social life for its citizens.

TODAY ITALY HAS A COMMITTED COMMUNIST AS ITS PRESIDENT

Giorgio Napolitano, born 29 June 1925 is an Italian politician who has been the 11th President of Italy since 2006. A long-time member of the Italian Communist Party and later the Democrats of the Left, he served as President of the Chamber of Deputies from 1992 to 1994 and as Minister of the Interior from 1996 to 1998. Appointed as a Senator for life in 2005, he was subsequently elected as President of Italy on 10 May 2006; his term started with the swearing-in ceremony held on 15 Ma2006. He is the first President of Italy to have been a member of the Italian Communist Party.

Italy's Fascist Government Programs

1922- 1943

Unbelievable, unbelievable! When we are about to consider what the regime of Mussolini, with the cooperation of the majority of the Italians, were able to do in just 17 or 18 years, within Italy and in the then territories of the Empire, not only is it hard to believe but, until proven to the contrary, it seems to be proportionally comparable to, with no exaggeration at all with the achievements of ancient Egypt, or those of Babylon, Persia, Greece and the Hellenistic Kingdoms, or with those of the Roman Empire.

To be convinced, just take a walk around an Italian city, to observe and identify the different characteristics and still visible works that were made during the Fascist period, not to mention the immense amount of laws and regulations that - despite a war lost and the dull and radical ostracism imposed on his memory by the "restorers of democracy" who were able to influence the current Italian Constitution (for example, in articles 39, 40 and 46) and even, in its overwhelming majority, to survive 'existence of the Fascist regime, continuing to organize and regulate the lives of the citizens of our nation, until a few years ago. That is, until, from the years 1992-1993, the artificial and misleading liberal-liberal ideology, the so-called deregulation, and the sad and fraudulent practices globalist, and for specific unmentionable private interests and cosmopolitan, wanted to dismantle criminally, along with almost all of those laws, the very foundations of the Italian state, social, independent and sovereign

In all cases, thanks to the blatant and irrefutable evidence brought to light by this work (about which, more than 66 years, were treacherously "censored" by most contemporary historians), and ideally the reader can easily immerse themselves in 'realities of Fascist Italy and then to judge, himself, to what extent the regime - regardless of the rightness or otherwise of the ideas he professed purposes or which pursued - can really continue to be unfairly maligned and constantly held up to our population, such as "absolute evil" or "part of it"!

Benito Mussolini
